

Reproduced from the Ordnance Survey map with the permission of the controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office © Crown Copyright Licence No: 100023393. Unauthorised reproduction infringes Crown Copyright and may lead to prosecution or civil proceedings.

MAP 3

CLICK HERE TO VIEW LEGEND

MAP 4

1:30,000

Produced by the Technical Section
Development Plans

Copyright National Trust for Scotland

Path No.	Path Name	Path Type	Length
AR63	Corrie to Goatfell	Road (part of NCN)	1.2 km
AR64	Goatfell to Corrie	Road, beaten earth with sections of rock	2.3 km
AR74	Saddle to Glen Rosa	Beaten earth	4.5 km
AR76	Goatfell (tourist route)	Aggregate and rock	5.4 km
AR78	Corrie to Merkland	Track	2.6 km
AR79	NCN7 Corrie to Brodick	Road (part of NCN)	5.6 km
AR96	Brodick Castle to Merkland	Aggregate	0.8 km
AR146	Port na Balach	Forest road	0.4 km

POINTS OF INTEREST

1 Goatfell

Goatfell - 874m (Corbett)

The Arran skyline is dominated by the jagged summits and ridges of Goatfell and the surrounding hills, providing a dramatic backdrop to Brodick Castle. It is a spectacular example of an open, rugged, upland landscape formed during the last Ice Age. The walk up Goatfell is a popular high level walk enjoyed by thousands each year. On a clear day you may see as far as Ben Lomond to the north and the coast of Ireland to the south-west. However, mountains must be treated with respect and dramatic changes in the weather conditions can occur throughout the year. The summit can be cold, wet and windy, even in summer, and visibility can be quickly reduced to a few metres. Be prepared by carrying a map, compass, torch, food and drink, and waterproof and warm clothing.

The National Trust for Scotland have been caring for the Goatfell property for over 50 years. Their work includes repairing and maintaining the fragile mountain footpaths, restoration of upland bog habitats, and enabling the regeneration of native woodlands on the lower slopes of the hill. You can become involved in these projects, or can accompany the Rangers on a mountain walk to gain first hand experience of Arran's magnificent landscapes and wildlife.

Corrie

Brodick

Points of Interest

Railway Station

Car Park

National Trust for Scotland

Adjacent Map Number

Core Path (Existing)

Core Path (Proposed)