Brodick Castle, Gardens and Country Park

The majestic Brodick Castle sits overlooking Brodick Bay, framed by the backdrop of Goatfell. As the ancient seat of the Dukes of Hamilton, Brodick Castle dates back 700 years and houses a superb collection of paintings, trophies, porcelain and silverware. Surrounding the Castle is one of Scotland's most unforgettable gardens, combining a formal walled garden with a magnificent woodland garden including towering rhododendrons and magnolias. Many of the plants were brought back by intrepid plant hunters from China, the Himalayas and Burma. In the wider Country Park there are over 10 miles of trails to explore with spectacular views, beautiful woodlands and dramatic watery gorges. For those keen on wildlife Brodick Castle Gardens and Country Park are excellent for spotting Arran's native red squirrels, whilst common and grey seals often bask on the rocks in Brodick Bay.

Throughout the year the National Trust for Scotland organises many events and guided walks including specialist gardens walks with the head gardener and wildlife walks with the Ranger Service.
