Blackwaterfoot

Kings' Cave

The most famous cave on the Isle of Arran is King's Cave, to the north of Blackwaterfoot. The cave is set above 8m of raised beach and was formed approximately 6,000 years ago.

This is reputed to have been a hiding place for Robert the Bruce when he began his campaign to claim the Scottish throne. Inside the cave are carvings and Ogam writing of Pictish origin as well as early Christian carvings.

The circular route at King's Cave also offers spectacular views over Machrie and the Kilbrannan Sound. In the summer months, gannets from Ailsa Craig dive for fish and basking sharks and otters can be spotted just offshore from the raised beach. With a length of up to 12m and a weight up to 17 tonnes, the basking shark is the second largest fish after the whale shark. In spring and summer the Firth of Clyde, especially around Arran, is a hot spot for feeding basking sharks which can be seen individually or in small schools feeding on animal plankton which they filter from up to 2,000 tonnes of water per hour.
