Our Registrar Service

The nature of civil marriage has changed dramatically since it was first introduced in Scotland in 1940.

Historically, a civil marriage was governed by strict rules, and could only take place in the office of an authorised registrar, on Monday to Friday, in a short ceremony which focused mainly on the legal requirements of marriage.

However recently the rules have changed and now there is much more flexibility. Our Registrars understand the diverse needs of people today, and the culture and social mix in our communities. As a result, many civil marriages now include personal touches such as live music, readings and additional vows, making the ceremony unique to you.

One of our registrars will encourage you to make your own contributions to the ceremony, and there is huge scope to involve friends, children and family members. Your guests can also be encouraged to take an active part in the ceremony, which can make everyone feel really included.

Although traditionally civil marriages were entirely non-religious, there is now no set format and religious context can be included if you wish. If you are considering a civil marriage, you may want to think about handfasting, sand ceremonies, remembrance candles or the well-known Scottish tradition of drinking from the Quaich, all of which are possible and a nice personal touch.

Civil marriage ceremonies can take place almost anywhere, and also on Saturdays and Sundays. Local authorities no longer need venues to be licensed for a wedding, and this freedom allows for much greater choice of location – you can be married in a hotel, in a castle, at a beauty spot, on a beach, in your garden or even on a boat; essentially anywhere that is special to you.

The role of the registrar is also unique – our registrars can guide you through the whole marriage process, including:

- Choosing a venue
- Submitting marriage notice forms and checking all the required documentation
- Tailoring the ceremony to suit you
- Bringing the marriage schedule to and from the venue
- Registering the marriage
- Issuing a marriage certificate.

A civil marriage gives you the opportunity to have a ceremony truly reflecting your personalities, and our registrars will assist you every step of the way to make sure it is a day to remember.

Planning Your Special Day

From the moment you say “yes”, to the ceremony, toasts, speeches, and the first dance, our aim is to help you plan your perfect wedding day experience. To assist you with the planning of your big day we have provided a helpful timeline.

12-18 months before your wedding day
- It is time to decide on the type of ceremony you would like to have, here in North Ayrshire you can choose one of our special venues or if you have a different idea in mind let us know and we will do all we can to accommodate this
- You may have a date in mind, so we suggest arranging an initial meeting with our dedicated Wedding Planner to discuss your ideas and to confirm your chosen venue is available. At this stage you should pay a deposit and reserve the date
- Now you have your date and venue you should make arrangements for your registrar or celebrant. For advice you can contact Registration Services 01294 310000
- Photographers, videographers, entertainers/bands, and wedding cars can all be in high demand especially in Spring/Summer time so we would suggest booking these as early as you can
- Decide on your wedding budget. It is always good to have this in mind so you know your spending limits
- Plan your guest list. You will need to consider how many guests your chosen venue can hold, you may also want to send out a save the date
- Choose a florist, these again can be in very high demand depending on the time of year you are getting married
- Consider wedding insurance, just for peace of mind to know everything is covered
- Now the real fun starts – go shopping for the bride, groom and wedding party outfits

Six Months until your wedding day
- Send out invitations – make sure all your guests know to keep this date free and give as much notice as possible. You could also include on the invitation transport details and some options for accommodation.
  Top tip – keep a spreadsheet of all invites and responses, this helps to keep track of your guests who are attending
- Hopefully by this point you have the outfits for the wedding party arranged – make sure any final alterations are organised and the date is in your diary to collect these
- Are you going on honeymoon? It is a good idea to shop around within your budget and book in advance
- Book any hairdressers and makeup artists required for your special day
Three months until your wedding day
- You should now submit all legal paperwork for your marriage. If you need any advice contact Registration Services on 01294 310000
- Book an appointment with your dedicated Wedding Planner to discuss your final arrangements
- If you haven’t done so already, go shopping for your wedding rings

One week before your wedding day
- Final check of arrangements – make sure the best man and bridesmaids know their duties
- Wedding rehearsal – organise a final run through before the big day
- Confirm with the venue that all arrangements are all in place and everything is ready for your big day

One month until your wedding day
- You should hopefully have received the RSVP’s back from your guests – it’s time to confirm final numbers with the venue for seating and catering
- Set out your table plan
- Top tip – start planning the speeches before things start to get really busy on the lead up to the big day
- Arrange to make final payments for venue, catering and registrars
- Final meeting at venue with event organiser

Your wedding day
- After all your careful planning and preparation – your special day is finally here. Relax and enjoy your day with all your loved ones!

Wedding FAQs

Can you cater for smaller weddings?
Yes, rooms within our venues can easily be configured to suit smaller parties. Catering can also be arranged to suit your needs.

Do children have to leave by a certain time?
No, as weddings are a family function children are welcome to stay until your function finishes. However, please ensure the application for your bar license covers this.

I have booked a ceremony only in the Harbour Suite at Saltcoats Town Hall, can I hire chair covers?
Yes, we can provide chair covers and cream sashes with a diamante buckle. We can also provide the Wedding Arch, aisle runner and decorative pillars for an additional charge. A £50 non-refundable deposit is required to secure these items.

Does the venue cost include the registrar fees?
No. The fees do not include costs for registration services. We recommend that you contact the Registrar Team direct to ensure you receive an accurate cost and full guidance on the services you can be provided with. Their telephone number is 01294 310000.

How much deposit do I need to pay?
A deposit of £50 for the venue, £55 for catering and £55 for registrars is required. All are non-refundable, however, these amounts are deducted from your final bill.

Can I pay in instalments?
Yes, this is a very popular method of payment which we encourage customers to do. Payment is required in full four weeks prior to your big day.
